

In regard to the possibility of cell phone usage onboard aircraft. Are you crazy? As an individual i do not like anyone sitting, standing or walking next to me talking on a cell, i can only imagine the anxiously i would feel in such a tight space. As a crew member i am imagining the addition to my job description being "referee". As a safety issue, perhaps i am being influenced by movies & T.V. but i fear global positioning capabilities in connection with short or long distance missiles. My comment to you is not to allow the use of cell phones onboard aircraft.
